DORSEY GIVES TO RESCUE SQUAD

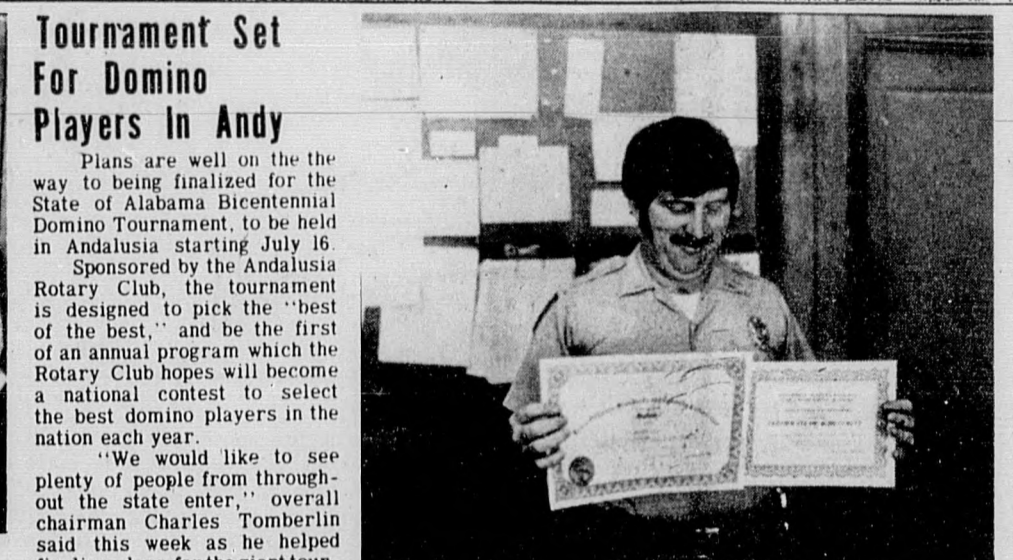

Dorsey Trainers presented a donation to the Elba Rescue Squad on Monday of this week. This donation was to kick off the annual fund drive for the Rescue Squad.

The check was presented by Mr. Sam Collier, right, on behalf of Dorsey Trainers. Accepting the donation was Rescue Squad member Avery Jackson, center, a charter member of the rescue squad and a veteran of 22 years with Dorsey Trainers and now retired.

Looking on is new personnel director, Mark H. Holt, who was on his first day at Dorsey when the photo was made. Holt plans to move his wife and five children to Elba as soon as housing is found. Presently they are staying with relatives in Enterprise. Within a few months they plan to build a home in Elba.

Jackson said upon accepting the check that, "It is a pleasure to come to Dorsey because I know I will get a good donation and the knowledge that the work of the volunteers who give their time without pay is appreciated."

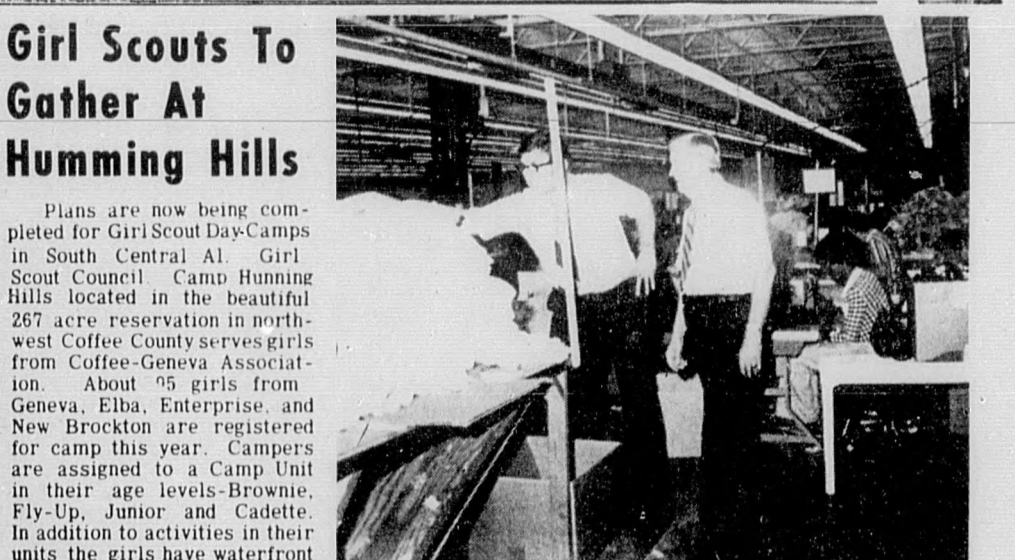

Mr. Collier told Jackson that the Rescue Squad was truly appreciated by the employees and management at Dorsey Trainers. He noted that Dorsey has helped the squad every year and hopes to continue the policy.

Elba Policemen Wins Honors At School

Elba policeman Jimmy Culler was top marksman at the Southwest Alabama Regional Law Enforcement Academy recently. Culler was at the school taking the required hours of formal training required by the Alabama law. He shot a '98 out of a possible 100 on the pistol range to win the honor.

The school is held at the James H. Faulkner State Jr. College in Bay Minette. Culler completed the school on June 4th and has returned to his duties with the Elba police department.

Girl Scouts To Gather At Humming Hills

Plans are now being completed for Girl Scout Day-Camps in South Central Al. Girl Scout Council Camp Humming Hills located in the beautiful 267 acre reservation in north-west Coffee County serves girls from Coffee-Geneva Association. About 75 girls from Geneva, Elba, Enterprise and New Brockton are registered for camp this year. Campers are assigned to a Camp Unit in their age levels-Brownie, Fly-Up, Junior and Cadette. In addition to activities in their units the girls have waterfront activities and arts and crafts. Camp is the week of June 14-18. An over night is enjoyed on Thursday night by all girls except Brownies. A feature of the overnight is campfire followed by refreshments. Parents and friends are invited to attend. A mystery guest is expected to attend on Thursday and talk to the girls.

Archery is also being offered to the older girls. A camp nurse is on duty at all times and girls are instructed in health and safety rules. Nature study, camp skills, outdoor cooking, hiking, songs and games are all enjoyable features of camp. The camp begins each day at 8:30 with a flag ceremony and closes each afternoon at 3:00 p.m. with a closing flag ceremony. Girls come from each town by car-pool.

City Officials Opposed To Prison Work Release Program Here

The Elba City Council met Friday in a special meeting to discuss information received on work-release programs such as announced for Elba by the Alabama prisons authority.

Mayor Sam Sawyer was out of town and Mayor Pro-Tem Charles Ellis presided over the meeting.

The council heard a detailed report prepared by Chief Johnston at the request of the council. Johnston reported to the council from several sources in North Carolina, which has a similar work release program for state prisoners.

Johnston noted that the purpose of the program was to familiarize prisoners with society before turning them loose but there is a question on the success of the North Carolina project. Johnston could get no one to explain why 76% of those on the program returned to jail when only 70% of the general jail population returned.

The man who heads the program in N.C. told Johnston it was working. Several police chiefs were not so strong for the project. The chief in Smithville, North Carolina, was hostile to the program, according to Johnston. He recommended that Elba get rid of it now if possible. He stated that every 30 to 60 days most of these people were project to some kind of crime in the community. Other chiefs didn't cite such high rates but did note an increase.

One chief told Johnston the program worked OK at first until they started placing prisoners charged with the more violent crimes on the program and then the trouble began.

Johnston noted that there would be 45 prisoners in the Elba program and they would be people who had 18 months and less to serve on their prison term. This contrasts with five years in the North Carolina program.

They will be under minimum security, some will work at public jobs and about 25 will be used by the state highway department. A number of counselors will be employed to help the men prepare themselves for return to society.

Councilman Virgil Coleman was the first to state his opposition to the project and he said, "we should flatly oppose this project." Coleman noted that he worked with placing men recently released from prison on jobs and it was a hard job. According to Coleman, seldom will a company hire a recently released 'con' if his family doesn't live or move to the area.

Councilman Ronnie Vaughan expressed doubt that Elba had any choice in the matter but that he was personally opposed to the project.

Local Girls In Dance Review

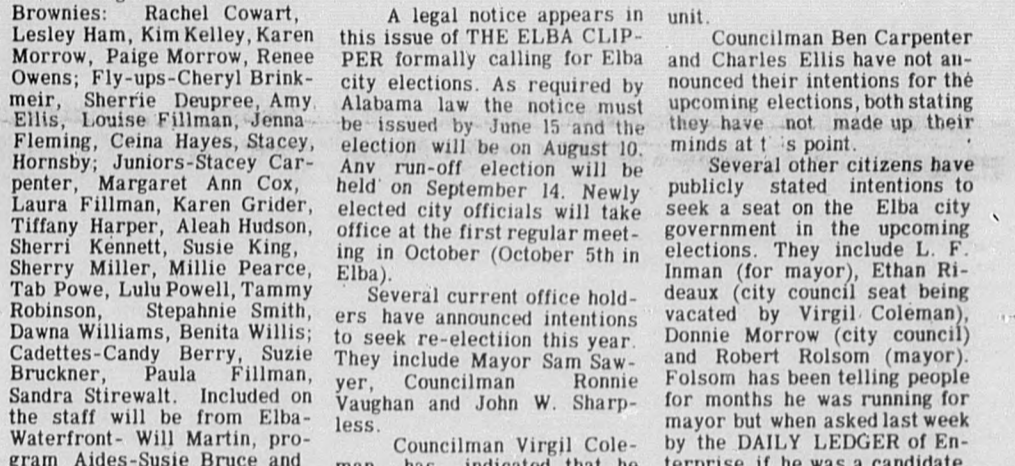

"An Evening of Dance, 1976," the twenty-third annual production of the Dorothy Rainer Sellers School of Dance, will be presented at the Elba High School Auditorium on Thursday and Friday evenings, June 10 and 11. Curtain time is 8:00 o'clock. There is no charge for admission.

"An Evening of Dance" is widely hailed as the finest presentation of amateur students in this area. Its director, Mrs. Sellers, has received national recognition for the high quality and professional-like standards maintained in this production. Her most recent honor is selection to appear in the 1976 edition of "Personalities of the South" in recognition of past achievements in the arts and outstanding service to community.

"An Evening of Dance" is a program of dances set to music of American composers. Among these are some of the all-time greats: Irving Berlin, Jerome Kern, Lerner and Lowe, Rodgers and Hart, Cole Porter, Creamer and Layton, Leroy Anderson, Victor Herbert and others.

The one hundred twenty-one students performing are from Andalusia, Opp, Florida, Elba, and Kinston, Alabama; Crestview, DeFuniak, Florin, Baker, and Laurel Hill, Florida.

Lions Hear Hayes Tell Of Utility Operations

Robert Stephens, Lion Vice-president, opened the regular meeting of the Elba Lions Club Tuesday evening following a delicious fried chicken supper. Bill Bruce, Jr., introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Charles Hayes III, who presented a very informative program about the history and current operation of the Elba Utilities Department.

Mr. Hayes stressed the importance of communication between the Elba Utilities Board and the residents and businesses of Elba. The following are excerpts from Mr. Hayes' comments.

The electrical system is the biggest department under the control of the Elba Utilities Board. It was purchased in 1938 at a price of $31,000.00. This was during the administration of Mayor L. P. Mullins. Many improvements and expansions have been made on the original system, and the present system is valued at $2,264,630.62.

The residents of Elba sometimes become concerned about electric rates here in Elba, when they read about complaints from customers of Alabama Power Company, especially those coming from Dothan. This concern is not well founded said Hayes. The lowest power rates possible because I'm in this job like you are."

At the conclusion of his talk, Mr. Hayes answered questions put to him by Lions. After there were no further questions, the meeting was adjourned.

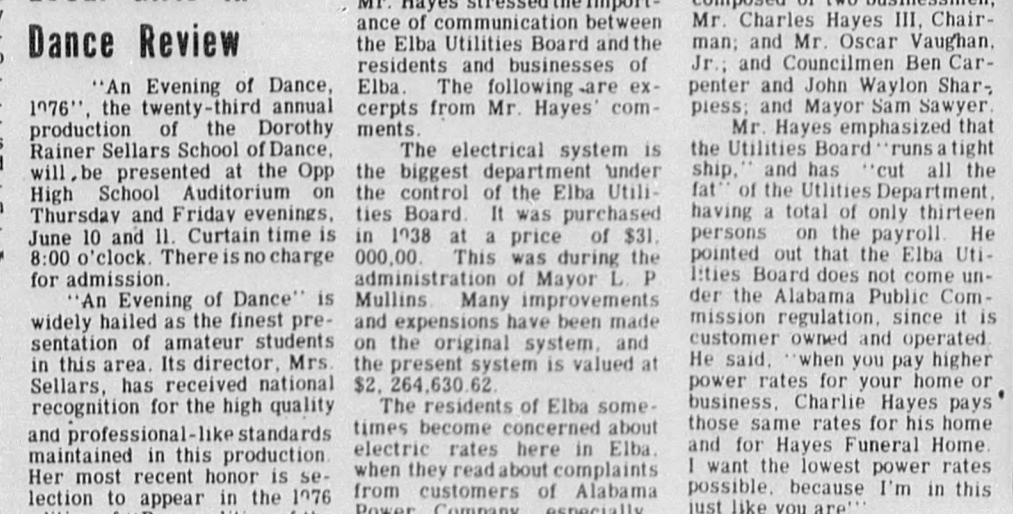

Lisa Sharpless Receives Scholarship

Elizabeth Sharpless, of Elba, is the recipient of a George C. Wallace Leadership Scholarship to Troy State University.

The announcement was made by TSU President Dr. Ralph W. Adams.

A 1976 graduate of Elba High School, Miss Sharpless was president of the school's student council and editor of the school's newspaper.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Sharpless of Elba.

Miss Hatcher At Ridgecrest

Marcia Hatcher of Elba is working at Ridgecrest, North Carolina this summer on the staff of the Ridgecrest Baptist Conference Center.

Miss Hatcher, the daughter of E. H. Hatcher, Jr., is a student at Enterprise State Junior College. As a Ridgecrest staff member, she will help accommodate an estimated 35,000 guests this summer.

Ben Brock Accepts Kleinert's Position

Ben Brock, right, has been named Personnel Manager at Kleinert's of Elba according to an announcement made this week. Above he is being shown one of the company's products by Glenn Powe, who is presently the Personnel Manager and will move to Security and Safety Officer for the entire corporation.

Brock will take over the full duties on June 28. Presently he is studying the techniques and functions of the company by visiting various outlets around the nation. Among the plants and offices he has visited in the last few weeks, are Chicago, Kutztown, Atlanta, and Asheville. Some of these, including the Chicago visit, are to Sears outlets and catalog sales.

Councilman Ben Carpenter and Charles Ellis have not announced their intentions for the upcoming elections, both stating they have not made up their minds at this point.

Several other citizens have publicly stated intentions to seek a seat on the Elba city government in the upcoming elections. They include L. F. Linnam for mayor, Ethan Bideaux (city council seat being vacated by Virgil Coleman), and Robert Rolson (mayor). Folsom has been telling people for months he was running for mayor but when asked last week by the DAILY LEDGER of Enterprise if he was a candidate, Folsom told the reporters he had no comment at this time. A number of others have admitted they are considering making the race but have not made a statement.

Miss Hatcher Bids Open For ESJC Building

Bids for the first unit of the Fine Arts Building and renovation in the Administration Building at Enterprise State Junior College were opened Tuesday, May 25, and Madison Construction Company, Ozark, was low bidder on the project. Shown looking over bids with Skelton, from left, are: Pearson Humphries, Jones and Associates, Inc., Montgomery, and B. A. Forrester, president, ESJC.

At the conclusion of his talk, Mr. Hayes answered questions put to him by Lions. After there were no further questions, the meeting was adjourned.

Marcia Hatcher of Elba is working at Ridgecrest, North Carolina this summer on the staff of the Ridgecrest Baptist Conference Center.

BRAINSTORMS

With Farris Cox

A recent ruling by the Nevada Supreme Court could send tremors through the nation's school systems. The court ruled that a high school of thirty students would remain open rather than bus the students on an eighty mile round trip each day. The unanimous opinion of the court was that rural schools are worth saving. The court said the close relationship between a school and the home is "something very precious to American education, which has been deteriorating in large communities." I have heard pro and con on this matter and the above is one of the arguments. Others contend that consolidating schools allows the students to get exposure to courses the small schools cannot offer. Apparently the courts have settled the issue for all of us.

Often when I write about one of my fishing trips, someone will ask why they never see a picture of my fish on the sports page. Well the truth of the matter is most of the time they aren't picture taking fish. However, this week my fish have made the paper. My son, Chris, and myself put in a hard day's work last weekend and caught a bunch of bream. We got to the point that I was wondering what the legal limit was in Florida. When selecting a string for the camera we still had those thoughts in our mind but in turned out that forty big ones was all the picture taking fish we had and sure that is within the legal limit. We gave fish to three different families and still dressed fish until midnight, but it was a memorable camping/fishing trip.

Mrs. Lurleen Martin gave us a pie this week and it sure was good. I don't know what kind it was but that is like good music, to eat and let someone else worry about the details.

Before another paper is published, city politics will be popping away in full gear. Mayor Sawyer has set next Tuesday as the day for candidates to begin qualifying. Several have formally announced that they intend to be candidates for election or re-election. Others have said they will not be candidates. Then there is the group that "ain't saying." Then there is those of us who are all excited and wondering what the final outcome of elections will be.

The City Council passed a resolution asking that the work-release program of the state prison system not be placed in Elba. Regardless of what the council, you or I think of the project, it is coming to Elba in my opinion. The facilities are already here, the prisons are overcrowded (the federal judge said) and any relief chances will be taken by prison officials. Let's just hope that those prisoners we get are tax evaders, etc. and not hardened criminals.

LET'S TALK ABOUT OUR TEENS

- HAIR -

Chief M. W. Johnston
Elba POLICE Department

Intrinsically the length and style of a teen's hair has no bearing on his tendencies toward getting into trouble, though since the late sixties the so-called establishment has seemingly wanted to use this standard as a measure of potential. And, admittedly, even law enforcement agencies have leaned toward "hair style judgment," in their thinking.

The problem, if one still remains, varies in importance determined by, among other things, geographical location. While most areas of the country have finally accepted hair style freedom as a basic right, others hold fast to the old standards, with the clean-shaven, burr-cut long standing for law-abiding good citizenship. If the latter held true law enforcement would be a simple matter.

Parents who remain concerned with their children's desired hairstyles will find it easier on the others to shift their concern to other indicators of more obvious importance.

We hear often that law officers pay closer attention to the activities of "long hairs." While this may have been true when the fat started, it has little basis in fact now. And if this thinking prevailed, police officers would surely be spending a lot of unnecessary time observing gray-headed long hairs, as many from the intelligence have named the group of hair-worshippers. Let's face it, some law attention no matter what must be done to achieve it, if that is a real reason for succumbing to hair style trends.

Excessive hair adornment, while it may show lack of concern for conventionality by the old standards, will have little if any influence, subliminal or otherwise, on a youngster's despoiled standards. If he has been taught the right and wrong basics his hair isn't going to make him forget, nor is he headed automatically toward an unruly existence because of his long hair.

If your teen's hair makes you ashamed and disgusted, you'll probably have to do something unique to get it changed. In law enforcement we have decided not to let hair bother us. Everyone we "do business with" will be treated equally in this jurisdiction, come hair or Yui Brynner.

Questions and Answers

Q: I understand that some people who get social security benefits are expected to file an annual report of earnings. Who are the people who file the report?

A: People under 72 who earned over $2,320 and got one or more months social security retirement survivors or dependents checks or black lung payments in 1975 must submit an annual report of their earnings to social security by April 15. The report is used to determine if people were paid the correct amount of social security benefits for 1975 and to adjust their monthly social security benefit to their estimated earnings.

If you need a social security number, be sure to apply for one at any social security office 4 to 6 weeks before you plan to use it.

If you get social security or supplemental security income checks, be sure to notify social security as well as the post office if you change your address.

Coffee County Health News

Kenneth R. Ball

Today I would like to discuss the Nutritional Education Program for pregnant women, infants and children under five years of age, which will very soon be in effect for the citizens of Coffee County who participate in the WIC Program.

The purpose of the WIC Program is to supply specific supplemental nutritious food, as an adjunct to good health care, to pregnant and lactating (breastfeeding) women, infants, and children under five years of age who have been individually determined by community professionals to be at nutritional risk because of inadequate nutrition and inadequate nutrition. This target group was chosen for the WIC Program based on studies indicating that inadequate maternal nutrition may lead to infant mortality, birth defects and impaired learning ability. Also, the early years of life are critical for the child in terms of mental and physical development.

Legislation has mandated that a nutrition education component be included in the WIC Program. This inclusion of nutrition education is vital if the Coffee County WIC Program is to result in long term improvement in the health status of recipients. In terms of immediate effects, nutrition education can help ensure that WIC supplemental foods are used properly and that the foods are consumed by the family members for whom they are intended. Once individuals no longer participate or need to be on the WIC Program, the nutrition education they have received will encourage the continued selection and consumption of nutritious food necessary for good health.

The WIC Program provides a unique opportunity for implementing a realistic approach to nutrition education. To educate recipients without supplying nutritious foods is ineffective for those recipients who may not have the money to purchase these foods. Likewise, providing nutritious foods without an explanation of their importance reduces program effectiveness. Therefore, it is required that nutrition education be made available to WIC Program recipients to help ensure that the Program will have a permanent and positive effect on their food habits.

The thrust of nutrition education will be to provide recipients with information on maximizing use of WIC supplemental foods and other nutritious foods and to emphasize the importance of a well-balanced diet to good health. In order to do this with maximum results, the cultural, ethnic and environmental surroundings of the recipients must be considered. All educational material will be adapted to recipients' levels of understanding, which will include bilingual instructions and bilingual material when necessary.

Nutrition education will take a variety of forms depending upon the recipients' needs.

PROGRAM GOALS:

- (1) To assist the individual at nutritional risk in obtaining a positive change in dietary status resulting in improved nutritional status through maximum use of the supplemental and other nutritious food.
- (2) To emphasize the relationship of proper nutrition to the total concept of good health with special emphasis on the nutritional needs of pregnant and lactating women, infants and young children under age five.

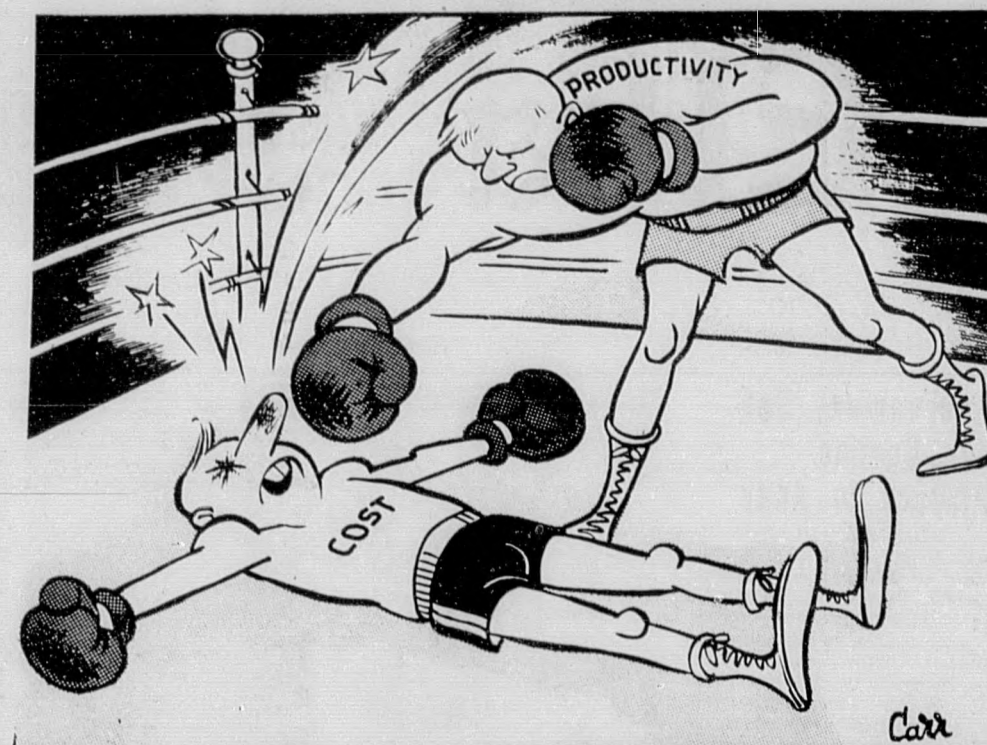

OUR TARGET AUDIENCE:

Nutrition education shall be directed first to pregnant and lactating women and to the parents or guardians of infants and children participating in the WIC Program. The rationale for establishing the priority system is that nutritional education should be provided first to those who are most at risk of nutritional deficiency (pregnant and lactating women), then to parents who select and prepare food for their children.

CONTENT OF NUTRITION EDUCATION:

- (1) The special nutritional needs of and ways to provide adequate diets for:
 - (a) Pregnant women
 - (b) Lactating women
 - (c) Infants (0-12 months)
 - (d) Children (age 1-5 years)
- (2) The following is included in WIC Program nutrition education, and continuing updating of health care for the citizens of Coffee County:
 - (1) Food selection emphasizing provision of essential nutrients.
 - (2) Food preparation and storage emphasizing sanitation and conservation of nutrients.

THE PUNCH THAT'S NEEDED

COOPERATION IS THE KEY

"Productivity means working smarter, not harder." We're hearing that a lot these days, and it's to our credit that many Americans are taking it to heart and proving that "American ingenuity" is still a vital part of our national character.

Workers are realizing that getting the same job done with less effort and fewer resources keeps costs down for the company and the consumer. That, they know, can mean the difference between job security and layoffs. Improving productivity is the only way to cut back our rate of inflation and to maintain our nation's competitive position in the world's economy. That, in turn, is the way to make sure we'll have enough jobs in the future to fulfill the needs of our growing labor force.

Each person must do his or her part, but more is needed. Importantly, the major sectors of our society—business, labor and government—must cooperate. Little can be done unless all are willing and involved.

The National Center for Productivity and Quality of Work Life, recently established by Congress, could prove a vehicle for these efforts.

Food prices in Alabama are likely to go up slightly in the coming months but not since 1972 have retail food prices risen at such a slow pace.

Food prices rose 0.5 per cent in 1975 after increasing 14.5 per cent in 1973 and 1974. They went up about 4.5 per cent in 1972 and 3 per cent in 1971, according to U. S. Department of Agriculture records. The government predicts that consumers' overall food bill will climb only 2 to 5 per cent this year.

Food prices are rising at a slower pace than other items. Beef prices are on the increase. The Agriculture Department says preliminary figures for early May show the all-out price of beef any Federal income taxes an employer has withheld from their wages. A minor's earnings are subject to taxes even under local law if the minor's income should not be included in the parent's income.

Q: I understand the IRS must redetermine thousands of refund checks each year. How can I make certain my refund check is delivered?

A: Most refund checks are not delivered because the taxpayer has moved and has failed to leave a forwarding address with the Post Office. Many taxpayers neglect to correct the label attached to their tax forms. Making sure that the IRS receives your correct name and address on this label can expedite delivery of your refund check.

Taxpayers who contact IRS about undelivered refund checks should give their name and address as it appeared on the return and their present name, address, Social Security number and the type of form they filed.

Q: My daughter has earned over $3,000 working part time at a school. Since she is a minor, does she have to file an income tax return?

A: The filing requirements for minors are the same as for any other United States citizen or resident. Generally, a minor must file an income tax return if gross income is $2,350 or more.

In addition, a minor who has an unearned income (interest, dividends, trust funds, etc.) must file an income tax return if they had gross income of $750 or more even if claimed as another taxpayer's dependent. If a minor earned at least $400 through self-employment, filing a return is required.

Minors who do not meet any of the filing requirements must still file a return in order to get back

ADEQUATE SELECTIVE SERVICE STANDBY POSITION IS NECESSITY

The end of American involvement in Southeast Asia together with the initial success of the Volunteer Army concept have resulted in a complete phase-out of draftees in the military services. This has enabled the Nation's Selective Service System to go into a standby phase, in which a skeleton organization has been maintained.

Congress provided fiscal year 1976 budget authority for Selective Service in the amount of $37.5 million, with a $28 million budget request expected for the 1977 fiscal year enabling the Selective Service System to meet any emergency mobilization within a 30-day period, as recommended by the Department of Defense.

But, the President in January reduced his 1977 budget request for Selective Service to only $6.8 million.

The House Armed Services Committee conducted extensive hearings on the Selective Service Budget and decided that the System should be funded at an $18 million level, providing a modest work force and a registration program. The System could be expanded rapidly and would have the ability to deliver inductees to the Armed Forces within the 30-day mobilization recommended by the Defense Department.

Under the President's proposal, Selective Service would be placed in what is termed a "deep standby status," in which it would simply maintain mobilization plans for the rapid expansion of the agency during an emergency. According to estimates, it would take at least 3 months, under ideal conditions, to produce inductees following a call for mobilization, plus another 2 months for training—a total of 5 months. I expressed my opposition to the President's plan in testimony which I gave before the Senate Appropriations Committee just a few weeks ago.

I believe it would be penny wise and pound foolish and could put our Nation in a vulnerable position. There is just too much to be lost and too little to be gained by such a large reduction in the Selective Service System's mission. The risks involved are far too great for the modest savings which could be realized, and it is my hope that Congress will approve an adequate program for the maintenance and continuation of an effective Selective Service System.

Food prices have declined in the state for six consecutive months before this increase was reported. A market basket of 20 food items increased from $17.86 in April to $18.09 in May.

Prices were highest in northwest Alabama where the market basket cost $18.66; central Alabama was lowest with $17.43; northeast, $18.05 and south Alabama, $18.23.

Information in this column was written by the Information Department, Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, Montgomery, Ala.

While the Senate has the immediate responsibility of approving the budgets passed by the House a few days ago, committees in both chambers continue to operate and to review bills for consideration later in the session. Thus far, 586 bills have been introduced in the House and 432 in the Senate. Beyond the Education and General Fund budgets, a substantial amount of important legislation, including final passage of the Sunset Law.

THE SESSION CONTINUES

and work on revision of the state criminal code, will require the Legislature's attention this summer.

As I have mentioned on a number of occasions, a toll-free telephone line to the Legislature is maintained to provide information of the status of any bill. The line is used by both private citizens and by groups interested in the legislative process. The number for the Legislature service is 1-800-392-8024.

Springwater To Perform This Weekend

SPRINGWATER, a contemporary music group from Oral Roberts University, Tulsa, Oklahoma, will visit Elba, June 11-13. They are traveling throughout the Southeast under the direction of the United Methodist General Board of Discipleship. Their program includes a variety of vocal and instrumental music to appeal to almost every age and taste, personal witness, and a challenge to a deeper commitment to Christ.

SPRINGWATER will perform an outdoor concert on the south steps of the Coffee County Courthouse at 7:30 p.m. Friday night (June 11). They will also perform at the Elba City Pool, Highway 64 at the Pea River, at 2:30 p.m. Saturday and at the United Methodist Church in the Fellowship Hall at 7:30 p.m. Saturday. (In the event of rain, Friday night's and Saturday afternoon's concerts will be held in the Fellowship Hall.) On Sunday they will teach Sunday School at the Elba United Methodist Church, preach at the morning service at 10:30 a.m., and conduct the 7:00 p.m. service, Sunday (June 13).

The pastor of the Elba United Methodist Church, Edward D. Henne, invites the general public to all these services. There will be no admission charge for any concert, but free-will offerings will be taken each time to help defray the travel costs for these young men.

KEITH HOCUTT
APPOINTED SUMMER
R.A. COUNSELOR

Mr. Jim Bethea, Royal Ambassador Consultant of the Alabama Brotherhood Department, has announced the appointment of twenty college young men as counselors for the summer at the Alabama Springs Camp at Shocco, Alabama. Among the appointees to work with Royal Ambassador boys as a chapter counselor is Keith Hocutt, Auburn University, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hocutt, of Elba.

Mr. Bethea, who serves as Director of the R.A. Camp, says the camp that is sponsored by the Alabama Baptist Convention will offer boys 9-17 a week of missions and Bible study, crafts, recreation, and "living in God's outdoors."

These appointees who are to report to camp on June 6, will be working there for 11 weeks.

Elba Church Of Christ To Hold Gospel Meeting

A Gospel Meeting will be held Monday, June 14th at 7:30 p.m. and services will continue nightly at 7:30 p.m. through the following Sunday, June 20th. The guest speaker during this series of Gospel Meetings will be Mr. Harvey Starling of Florence, Alabama where he teaches Bible and Personal Evangelism at International Bible College. See this paper for additional details. Come and hear first century Christianity proclaimed.

By: K. Maynard Head

"WHEN THE ROLL IS CALLED" I can remember clearly the first automobile my father had. It was a 1948 De Soto car that is no longer built. Dad bought it so we would have transportation to church. A few months before he purchased the car, several of my family, including Dad, united with one of the local Baptist Churches. Dad really "got religion" and it came a burning passion with him. It seemed that everything he said or did was dictated by his faith.

Once when we were traveling in our "new" car, my brother and I began joking and "cutting up." Dad corrected us quickly and said, "Boys, the Bible said to let your conversation be as if you were alone. Stop your foolishness!"

Those days were simpler than ours today and we never went anywhere except to church - but that was a lot.

Somebody might say these were special - quiet times to be in the church, and it seemed when one of the popular singing groups came to town.

The meeting began with some congregational singing and by our young music director who attended classes at a nearby college. He was frequently nervous because of the large crowd, but the congregation carried the singing, much to his relief.

A local singing group was introduced and they sang two or three songs. And then the visiting quartet came to sing. Most of them had a trumpet and individual microphones. The sound literally shook the building.

First Baptist To Hear A Special Musical Service

Sunday evening, June 13, 7:00 P.M., the Youth and Church Choirs will be featured in a Special Musical Service at the First Baptist Church. The Youth Choir will present "I Pledge Allegiance," a bi-centennial musical by Derrick Johnson. The Chancel Choir will sing several early American hymns arranged by Robert Shaw.

The public is invited to attend and share in this experience of patriotism and praise. The choir is under the direction of Robert S. Holliman, Minister of Music, with Judith Butts and Janet King, accompanists.

The boys from Elba, went to Twin City Speedway, Saturday night with one thing in mind: winning. The stands were a little fuller this week as I noticed many new faces, and some new cars. The qualifiers were led again this week by Jack Young (Elba), who turned a very fast time of 17.27. The second fastest time belonged to Donny Hardy who had a bicentennial time of 17.76, while Harold Spicer, driving the same car, recorded a 17.84. The first race of the evening was the Helmet Dash between the two fastest late-model-sportman cars. Jack Young had the pole position while Nix Bruce got the other place with a quick 17.81. Jack jumped to the lead and held it for all five laps and the victory by about four car lengths. The second race was the Hobby Class Heat race which had Jimmy Allen and Charles Parker on the front row. The race had to be restarted after J. B. Scott collided with James Wood in the front straight. Johnny Fuller held the lead for the first lap but on lap 2 he spun in the back straight which gave the lead to Larry Adcock (Elba). Larry stretched his lead for the next five laps and the victory. Scott was second while Allen, Wood, and Parker rounded out the top five. The next race of the evening was the L-M-S Heat race, Buddy Griffin, from Panama City, had the pole position with Kirby Smith on his right. Smith led for the first two laps when on lap 3, Tommy Adams, Tom Knowles, Nix Bruce, and Jack Young all piled up in the third turn after Adams spun. Wayne Newton took the lead for the next two laps until on lap five, Jack Young took control for the last six laps. Nix Bruce finished second followed by Tommy Adams and Newton. The special 25 lap Spectator Championship race was next with 8 entries. Donny Hardy, driving Harold Spicer's "Foggy Bottom Flyer" had the pole position with Lason Smith on the outside. When the green flag fell, Donny made his hometown of Elba proud of him as he powered into the lead and held it for all 25 laps. Jerry Still, Lason Smith, Sonny Glover, and Bill Taylor finished out the top five in this last Spectator Race. The consolation race had only three entries. The five lap race was won by Tom Knowles with Kirby Smith in second and Buddy Griffin in third. The next race of the evening was the 12 lap Hobby Feature. James Wood had the pole with J. B. Scott on his right. Scott had the lead for the next four laps, it was here that Larry Adcock took control. He led for the last seven laps and the win. Charles Parker placed second and Wood finished third. The next race was the L-M-S feature race. Tom Knowles and Tommy Adams shared front row honors. Adams led for the first two laps, but then Jack Young took over. It was a historic victory because in 1974, C. L. Fisher set a track record of four consecutive feature race wins. Last week Jack tied this record and this week he made his own. The way his car is running this year, Jack could break his new record for many weeks to come. Nix Bruce, Adams, and Knowles followed Jack to the checkered flag. Next week, the new combined division should be quite interesting. The spectator class will combine with the L-M-S to make one class, but the Hobby Class will continue to run as is. Twin City is now running strong. More drivers were there this past Saturday and more are expected next week. Twin City is located on Highway 92 west of Kinston. It is very easy to find the track, because all you must do is go to the stop light in downtown Kinston and turn right. Continue out this road for about four miles, and you will see the track on the right side of the road. Everyone should come out this week and support the drivers from Elba. They can be easily recognized. Jack Young drives a blue car #22 with "Wise's Farms" on the side. Donny Hardy or Harold Spicer in the burgundy and white number "71", and Larry Adcock in the gold #10 sponsored by A. J. Weeks. I honestly believe that anyone who has never witnessed a stock car race in person will find out that they have been missing a big treat. "Isn't that right Skeet?"

SPORTS SHORTS

Hank Aaron's record-breaking home run—with which he equaled Babe Ruth's 715 lifetime homers—was made on April 8, 1974 in the fourth inning of a game against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The tallest basketball player of all time was Amil Rached of Brazil who was 7 feet 7.5 inches tall.

Little League Baseball's Official Summer Camp begins its ninth season on June 20 at its Southern Regional Headquarters and Training Center in St. Petersburg, Florida. The second session begins on July 4 and the final session of this season begins on July 18. Dr. Walter Bowman, Camp Director, assures parents that Baseball IS fun at this Camp! All campers play a game each day and are taught the methods of the seventh, but Windham's combined two-hits, two errors, and a walked batsman to score four runs in the final inning and claim the win. Ricky Mulhaz went 3 for 4 to lead Windham's at the plate, while Wayne Suttley went 3 for 4, including two towering home runs, to pace Wise's.

Only a few weeks remain before the first session begins. Applications are still being accepted for all three sessions. If you or your boy likes baseball, he will enjoy this happy and exciting experience.

City Politics Open With Three Mayor Candidates

At press time this week there were no surprise entries on the local political scene. Three announced candidates for mayor qualified as promised early Tuesday and six candidates for the city council had also qualified. Four were incumbents and two have not run or served before. Only Councilman Ben Carpenter (Place 5) has opposition. He is opposed by Marvin McCollough.

Mayor Sam Sawyer was the first to qualify Tuesday morning. Shortly afterwards he had opposition from challenger Robert Folsom. A few minutes later L. F. (Sonny) Imman also qualified for the office, bringing the total to three. Several others are rumored to be eyeing the office including one woman who told this newspaper she had a number of people encouraging her and her husband was not opposed to her running.

The council races are less active initially with someone qualified in every place, four incumbents and Place four

Mosquito Problem In Elba Discussed

An army descended on Elba one day last week with the sole purpose of solving the mosquito problem. The city clerk, Richard Brown, Coffee County Health Officer, J. W. Woodley, U. S. Corp. of Engineers, and Donald Johnson, Southeast Alabama Regional Development

Commissioners Support Ball, Borrow Money

The Coffee County Commissioners met Monday in Enterprise. All members of the Commission were present for the morning part of the meeting. Commissioner Albert Dyess didn't return after lunch. The first item of business was a road complaint from two residents of District 1. The county engineer was instructed to check the complaint and make necessary repairs.

Mr. Kenneth Ball, of the Coffee County Health Department met the commission and explained the programs now in operation through the health department. He told of plans to completely vaccinate the population of Coffee County in a three day period in October.

Ball told the commissioners of other plans for federally funded programs and warned the commissioners his department would be needing additional space when these programs are approved or enlarged.

The commission voted to ask Representative Jimmy Holmes to sponsor legislation to re-identify the voters of Coffee County over a two year period. The reasons for this are the many names on the poll lists years after the person has died or moved away from Coffee County never to return.

Repair to Mr. Frank Miles' pick-up truck was approved. It was damaged due to a hole in the road not being marked.

Approval of travel expense of Tim Byrd, the Youth Service Officer in Coffee County, was given after it was approved by the author.

Tax Collector Max Reeves gave his annual report to the Commission.

Approval was given for paying expenses of all commissioners who attend the State and/or National Commissioners' conventions.

Approval was given to pay the monthly bills and the final bill of the Revenue Sharing Report on plans for $67,518 in funds.

A motion to borrow $20,000 for the General Fund from the Enterprise Banking Co. was approved, but with the vote of Commissioner Flournoy Whitman who opposed the action.

The meeting was adjourned until eleven a.m. Thursday.

formation filtering into Elba. Myers was arrested Tuesday afternoon at 5:05 Jacksonville time. The arrest was made by federal agents, who were acting on information given them by the Kebab County, FL Sheriff.

Granham was expected to return to Elba with Myers Wednesday afternoon or early evening.

According to bits of information received by Mr. and Mrs. Lester Funder last Saturday night when the Coffee County CB Club presented them with a check for $500. The money is to be used to help with the medical bills of their son, up to battle from an attack of encephalitis. He was struck with the dread sickness last spring (1975) and for months was in a coma but with professional help and mountains of family love is showing very strong signs of recovery.

The Funder family doesn't qualify for federal financial help of any kind they were informed last week. They are slowly paying off hospital and doctor bills and trying to keep up with current bills. Mr. Funder was laid off at the time of Perry's initial illness but has returned to work.

Mrs. Funder told THE ELBA CLIPPER that if it had not been for the good people of the Elba area, "we wouldn't have been able to make it." She said that the glowing look on her face people mention is because of the many acts of love expressed by friends and neighbors, coupled with the hope of Perry's eventual recovery.

The help the Funder's speak of include the wheelchair which was purchased by the Elba Rotary Club and the Elba Lions Club and such acts as a $100 bill in an envelope last fall from an unknown person just to cite a few. Their concern now is to get a special walker so that Perry may be learning to walk again. They talk of having one built because of the expense of factory made walkers, but somehow the Funder's will get the walker they need - if you don't believe it just ask them. Their faith will make you believe.

The Elba Quarterback Club will hold its first meeting of the school year on Tuesday evening, June 22 at Holley's Restaurant.

The purpose for this meeting is to discuss plans for the coming year and to give all persons an opportunity to meet the new coach, Mac Champion. Some very important plans will be presented and all interested persons are asked to be present.

CB Club Gives $500 To Perry Funder

Director Sells Work Release

Larry Bennett, left, and Larry Spens, right, are explaining the work release program of the state prison system to Elba police chief M. W. Johnston, last Friday afternoon. Bennett is head of the state work release program and Spens is his assistant.

The two, along with George Bowen, Elba program director and his assistant, Larry Burton, were attempting to dispel some of the poor reception the program had received when first announced for Elba.

The program went into actual use on June 15. Under the plan prisoners in prison less than 18 months to serve on their sentence can be placed in one of these camps and work at public jobs during the day but return to the lock-up at night. Persons placed in this program are selected through a screening process, said Bennett.

The Elba City Council had voted to oppose the program but a special meeting recently and the four were stressing that the program could work. According to their research, only 11% of the prisoners in this program ever return to prison - a far cry from the normal percentage.

The money earned by the inmate is divided, with a percentage going to the state room and board, a percentage is available to the inmate for necessities, and some can be placed in a home and the balance is placed in a trust account for the inmate and given to him upon his release from prison.
